Handling a Balking Horse.

A balking horse that lies down when you want him to pull is about the most exasperating animal in creation. What would you do in a case of that kind? Whipping does no good. Try all the tricks of the jockey and some horses refuse to move. Would you be cruel to a beast that has a bad trick simply because some senseless driver has overloaded or abused the poor animal? No, friends, don't be mean because the animal is, says the American Cultivator. Sometimes a balking horse is started by diverting his attention a moment by picking up a foot or adjusting the collar—anything that makes him forget that he has a bad trick against you. Some times the load is too heavy or stuck in a chuck hole. Rest the team a moment, fuss around the balking horse a bit, swing the team to right or left quickly when he is doing all he can. If he refuses to go then—well, the David Harum method never fails. Tie the horse right there and wait till he is ready to go. Wait all night, next day, too, if necessary. Try him now and then—if the load is not actually stuck so no horse can start it—and so long as he refuses to start again, tie him and let him stay alone. Take the other horse to the barn of course. If where no one will interfere—out in the field or timber—then you don't need to stay and watch. But if some humane person is liable to come along and upset your cure, then you had better stay around where you can explain the situation. One good lesson usually cures the most persistent balker.—Springfield, Republican.

ABOUT THE STATE

After making five pounds of sugar to a tree, many Waterbury farmers have gathered their buckets, glad to let those who will take advantage of the last runs of sap.

The condition of the Rt. Rev. J. S. Michael, bishop of Burlington, who has been passing several weeks in Virginia in the hope of benefiting his health, is no better. Bishop Michael has returned to Burlington.

Lieut. Stewart Elting of Burlington was ordered to join the 11th cavalry in Cuba on May 15. Lieut. Elting, who was recently graduated from West Point, had previously been ordered to Fort Ethan Allen, where a part of the 11th cavalry is stationed.

Early Sunday morning the barn of Mr. Phillips of Newport was destroyed by fire. Two tenement houses on each side caught fire, but were saved. The cause of the fire is unknown. A family occupying the house had moved out the day before. The loss is about $800, with a small insurance.

Navigation on Lake Champlain opened for the season Monday, when the Ticonderoga made a trip from Burlington to Adams Landing and returned to Plattsburgh again. Captain W. W. Rockwell reports the heaviest transportation of freight for the first day of the season on record.

Next May D. L. Morgan will complete his fifteenth year as superintendent of the house of correction at Rutland. During that time there have been 2,984 commitments to the county jail and 7,040 commitments to the two institutions in the fifteen years.

St. Charles Council, No. 763, Knights of Columbus, Bellows Falls, celebrated its fifth anniversary Sunday evening. The council was organized with forty charter members with Dr. John T. Ruden as the first grand knight. The present grand knight, Edward Lawler, has received two unanimous re-elections and under his leadership the council has grown to about one hundred members.

J. G. Bellows of Burlington, secretary of the state board of pharmacy, has announced the names of those who successfully passed the examinations for registered pharmacists. The examinations were held about two weeks ago in Montpelier and out of fourteen applicants only three passed. The successful ones were Charles A. Scates of Derby, George Breansea of Rutland and Roy A. Ingalls of Vergennes.

George Cutler, a lineman in the employ of the Burlington Traction company, fell from the top of a construction wagon a distance of 25 feet Saturday afternoon, and sustained serious injuries. Although badly bruised, no bones were broken and internal injuries were escaped. Cutler was repairing the trolley wire when he broke. He was unable to save himself, as he held a soldering pot in one hand. He struck against the whistle-tree of the wagon and his fellow workmen, thinking him injured, summoned a physician.
